Funds Needed For Recent Flood Victims

As with other American Red Cross chapters in the nation, the Hancock County Chapter of The American Red Cross also has their quota to meet to aid those in the terrible flood disaster in Rapid City, South Dakota.

One of the greatest and largest missions of the Red Cross is to help the relief and mitigate suffering caused by disasters.

All of the activities of the American Red Cross and its chapters support these duties and humane needs.

"All of us here on the Gulf Coast know what a tremendous help the National Red Cross was to us when Camille struck," emphasized a local Red Cross worker. "So now let us think of those in Rapid City who have lost loved ones and their earthly possessions by responding to their need as the Red Cross responded to us by contributing what ever amount - whether great or small."

All checks should be mailed to: American Red Cross, Hancock County, P.O. Box 149, Bay St. Louis, Miss. 39520. Please note on the check that it is for Rapid City Relief Fund. Your contribution is tax deductible.

BRELAND'S TRUCK has last year's tag... Sheriff's Deputy Lathan Garriga points to 1971 license plate on a truck belonging to Breland Construction Co. Garriga brought the truck and its driver to the Sheriff's office Tuesday and the truck has been impounded until Breland purchases a new tag. A $25 bond has been posted for the driver of the truck. Breland Construction Co. is presently contracted to repair the beach road. Four trucks working on the beach project were ticketed in April for out-of-state tags.

Re-Zoning Petition Withdrawn At Meeting

A petition to re-zone an area of North Bay St. Louis was withdrawn Tuesday night when the Bay Planning and Zoning Commission refused to allow the petition to continue indefinitely.

Petitioners Ruble Griffin and Sam Favre asked the commission to allow the withdrawal if the re-zoning request could not be continued on an indefinite basis.

Paul Vegas, commission chairman, opened the meeting by pointing out that "we have three choices: we can deny the petition; we can continue it indefinitely; or we can allow them to withdraw."

Commissioner E.J. Marengo

made a motion to deny the original petition as it was presented and Garland Belote seconded the motion. It was defeated, however, by a vote of 2-2 with one abstention (voting against were William Tate, Roger Davis and Wilson Wehre, Belote and Marengo cast their votes in favor of the motion and Dr. Michael Smith abstained).

Wilson Wehre then made a motion to allow the petition to stand indefinitely, explaining that this would give the commission more time to study the request. Wehre also said that the commission could vote on the request without public notice by the petitioners. The motion died for lack of a second.

Complaints Lodged Against Beach Campers

A complaint that visitors from Canada were using the beach as a campground was issued by four beachfront property owners Monday night at a regular meeting of the Bay St. Louis commission council.

Mrs. Pat Dickinson who said she was "representing the property owners on the beach", stated that camping on the beach should be stopped because it is a "health hazard" to the community. Pointing out that the campers had no facilities during their stay, Mrs. Dickinson said, "someone knocked on my door and asked to take a bath!"

Commissioner William Frisbie, who presided over the meeting in the absence of Mayor Warren Carver, asked city attorney Gerald Gex to look into the matter. "There is some confusion over the problem of public or private use of the beaches but we will check the legal possibilities of stopping the campers," Frisbie said. Mayor Carver was unable to attend the meeting because of a foot injury.

Action was deferred on a request for funds by the Bay St. Louis school board. A total of $40,000 is needed to completely renovate Bay Junior High. According to school superintendent Joe McCullough, the work will include two fire escapes, waterproofing and general repair and cleaning work. Robert Hamilton, school board member told the council that if the work was done, it would add 15 to 20 years to the life of the building.

The board also requested an additional $15,000 to purchase two trailers currently being leased for use at Waveland Elementary School. The trailers would be used for band rooms at Bay Senior High and the new Waveland Elementary School.

Tax commissioner Andre Arceneaux told the board that $15,000 in school taxes has not been collected this year and added that he did not expect to collect even $9,000 of this amount. "The people are overburdened by street assessments and they're holding back on the school taxes," Arceneaux explained.

Arceneaux then suggested that possibly the money could be obtained from a state loan fund but pointed out that "additional millage would have to be added at the beginning of the fiscal year".

Unwilling to make any commitment in Mayor Carver's absence, Frisbie suggested that a meeting be held next week to discuss financing the renovation work.

but asked the board to consider dropping the trailer purchase proposal. The council will meet with the board Wednesday night at Bay Senior High.

Ingram Closing Local Plant

Ingram Industries announced Wednesday that it was permanently shutting down the plant in Kiln, Miss.

According to Ingram officials, "operations at the plant will be discontinued immediately" and they issued the following statement: "Careful consideration was given to the future defense supply requirements of government procuring agencies and to the capital outlays that would be necessary prior to resuming operations. It was apparent that financial results could not justify the investments required to continue operations."

The company sincerely appreciates the efforts and loyalty demonstrated by each employee during its operation in Mississippi and wishes each luck and success in his new area of employment."

Dedication Held At Commagere Park

A new Bay St. Louis park was dedicated to the late Forster Commagere, a local sports figure, last Wednesday in ceremonies at the facility on Bookter St.

In his dedication address, Ronnie Arduques, president of the Parks and Playgrounds Commission, called Commagere, "a living influence on those he came in contact with." Commagere served for many years as athletic coach at St. Stanislaus.

"As a coach, he had no peers. Under his influence and supervision, a list of great athletes developed right in the shadow of this facility we are dedicating tonight. Men like Marjory Schwartz of Notre Dame fame; Johnny Scatfield and "Wop" Glover of Tulane's championship team of the 1930's; he played an important part in the development of Felix "Doc" Blanchard, Army's great all-American fullback of the 1940's; Zeke Bonura, hard hitting first baseman of the New York Giants; and many, many others."

development in the coastal area today and also a basic summary of the state laws on this subject.

Also available are the individual code books covering the building codes, electrical codes, plumbing codes, and gas codes used by contractors and tradesmen. These reference materials are available for use in the library by all interested members of the community.

COLLING'S CORNER

The descendants of the many French settlers in Louisiana and all along the coast to Mobile look forward each year to the celebration of Bastille Day, the great national holiday, July 14 will mark the 183rd anniversary of the fall of the old fortress.

As most people of French blood and/or sympathies know—and many others do not—the Bastille was an old castle, built about 1390, which, at the outbreak of the French Revolution in 1789, was being used as a prison, chiefly for political prisoners. When the enraged people of Paris, led by Mirabeau, took to arms in May of that year, the Bastille was a made-to-order focusing point for their anger. They laid siege to the old fortress and finally overcame it by sheer force of numbers, slaughtering the defenders and freeing all the prisoners.

When the news of the revolt reached America there was a mixed reaction among the French-speaking people along the coast. Most of them joined in a wild and joyful celebration, but some, especially those of the titled and moneyed classes, foresaw the ruin of their estates and property in the mother country, and they were fearful for the safety and welfare of their relatives still in France.

And they had good reason for their fears, for soon after the fall of the Bastille the infamous Reign of Terror began. Day after day the crowds which made holiday around the guillotine laughed and cheered as a steady procession of men and women mounted the steps to the guillotine. Many of them bore ancient and respected names and titles, others were the wealthy bankers, merchants and landowners, all were proscribed by the people and their fanatical leaders and all died on the block. Very soon, as word reached the Gulf coastal cities and towns, the rejoicing at the start of the revolution turned to deep sorrow for those who died and impotent anger for Danton and Robespierre.

The Reign of Terror culminated in the executions of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette and of the Girondists. Finally Robespierre fell and sanity slowly returns to the people. But France seemed under the hand of fate to drink the cup of Bastille to the dregs, for then came Napoleon and the wars of Europe, and death and sorrow were multiplied throughout the world.

One of those in this country who remembered the Bastille was Captain Ernest Desportes of Biloxi whose great-great-grandfather, Jean Delaunay, had been Governor of the Bastille "that fateful July 14 in Paris when siege was laid to this historic fortress. Governor Delaunay was captured with the Bastille, beheaded, and his head affixed to a spike above the portals."

It is a moot question whether Bastille Day should be observed as a milestone toward freedom or as an example of the horrorfulness of human nature.

Social Security Information

The basic premium rate for the medical insurance part of Medicare will go up from $5.80 a month beginning July 1, according to Gwendolyn L. Dunlap, representative in the Gulfport social security office. The medical insurance part of Medicare helps pay for doctor bills and a variety of other medical expenses for people 65 and over. The program is funded by individual premiums matched by the Federal Government.

"The 20-cent increase in the premium in July compares to a 30-cent increase in 1971 and a $1.30 increase in 1970," Mrs. Dunlap said. "The low increase this year reflects savings in the administration of Medicare as well as lower anticipated medical costs because of the Price Commission's guidelines limiting physicians' fee increases to an average 2 1/2 percent a year," she said.

The Medicare law requires an annual review of the cost of the medical insurance program. The premium rate is adjusted to cover the estimated medical expenses of Medicare patients during the 12 months beginning July 1.

"The cost of the program was $35 million under estimates made last year," Mrs. Dunlap said. "Yet without the Price Commission limit on physicians' fees, it would have been necessary to increase the premium to at least $6 a month."

The medical insurance part of Medicare paid $2 billion in benefits on behalf of 9 1/2 million people in fiscal 1971. Almost everyone 65 and over is enrolled—about 20 million people, according to Mrs. Dunlap.

The medical insurance supplements Medicare hospital insurance, which is funded by social security contributions and helps pay for hospital bills and certain follow-up care of people 65 and over.

Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

County Agent's Notes

The threat of screw worms invading Mississippi is greater this year than any time since the eradication program began in 1962.

John W. Smith, County Agent at Bay St. Louis, said that cases have been reported in areas near Arkansas and Louisiana during April and May which is a threat to Mississippi. "Populations of the deadly livestock pest are at critically high levels over widespread areas of Texas. Sterile fly production has been stepped up to capacity levels, but this is not enough to stop the spread. Breaking past the sterile fly barrier almost daily, screwworms could easily get back into Mississippi although the state has been free of the pest since 1961."

Extension specialists and animal health officials are particularly concerned about the lack of worm samples being sent in by livestock owners in Mississippi. They reported that no samples have been sent in at all, whereas hundreds are needed for officials to be able to determine where the pest is located.

"With much of Texas infested with screw worms and regular livestock movements coming to and through Mississippi, county livestock producers should carefully inspect all livestock received from Texas and other infested areas," warned Smith.

The plan laid out by the animal health officials for protecting Mississippi livestock from screw worms is as follows:

(1) Release of sterile flies alone will not stop the large numbers of screw worms moving north and east from Texas. Livestockmen just carry out all approved preventive practices in order to contain and eliminate screw worms.

(2) Livestockmen must protect their animals by starting a long abandoned practice - inspecting livestock regularly and carefully. All wounds - particularly navels of new-born calves - must be found and treated promptly, whether they are wormy or not. Castration, dehorning, shearing and docking provide additional wounds on which screwworms can lay their eggs.

(3) All animals being shipped should be moved as a preventive measure. Spraying animals with approved treatment keeps screw worms from maturing and assures that the owner is not shipping infested livestock out of the state. Regular preventive treatment will help delay the natural spread of screwworms and protect the health of the animals.

(4) Livestock owners are warned to be cautious about livestock shipments coming from infested areas. Any shipment of cattle from in or near the infested areas may be carrying screwworms, each animal must be thoroughly checked over for wormy wounds. A cow's vagina, bull's sheath or calf's navel could be harboring screwworms that will start a large infestation in a new area.

(5) It is illegal to move infested livestock across state lines. If a screwworm infestation results from transporting infested animals out of the infested area, it may be necessary to quarantine and regulate livestock movements. Inspection stations may have to be set up along state borders to check all shipments.

(6) Samples of worms from wounded animals that are identified as screwworms will receive special drops of sterile flies to further protect their animals. Self-addressed kits can be obtained from any Extension agent or livestock inspector.

Save Money This Summer

With summer's hot, humid weather on the way, homeowners in this area would do well to keep in mind these tips recommended by Mississippi Power Company on the efficient use of electric appliances.

Set the air conditioning thermostat at 78 degrees, a comfortable summer temperature for most people. For each degree below that, the unit will use about 10 percent more electricity.

Clean or replace air conditioning filters frequently. Check to see that the house is insulated properly. The recommended thickness for insulation is six inches in the ceiling and four inches in the wall.

The attic should be properly ventilated, even with a well-insulated ceiling.

Awnings and shutters outside the house and closed draperies or blinds inside will help shut out the heat.

If you build or re-roof, remember a light-colored roof reflects heat.

Shade trees and shrubbery also keep out heat, but make sure they don't block the cooling unit's air flow.

Windows and doors should be properly fitted and weather stripped. Ask members of the household to close doors properly so that cool air will not escape.

Remember checkups for the air conditioner will assure operating efficiency.

In the summer, home appliances often require more electricity because of more frequent use. Appliances can be used more efficiently by remembering these hints:

Replace worn gaskets on refrigerators. If you do not have a frost-free refrigerator or an automatic defrost model, defrost regularly and cut down on the number of times doors are opened.

Run only full loads in dishwashers and clothes washers. This saves water, time, and money. Read clothing labels and use the lowest water temperature that will give desired results.

Fill a clothes dryer, but don't overload. Use settings appropriate for various fabrics. Permanent press, for example, doesn't need "hot" heat. Keep lint filter clean and be sure dryer is vented to the outside.

How to Buy a Refrigerator

A refrigerator should reflect your cooking and shopping habits. If you prefer frozen foods, look for a large freezer; if you prefer fresh foods, look for plenty of fresh food storage space. If you shop once a week, you'll need lots of storage space; but if you shop often, you won't need as much.

If you are a newlywed planning on raising a family soon, then buy a refrigerator large enough to meet anticipated needs. The reverse may hold true if your children are grown.

There are two sizes to consider—inside capacity and outside measurements. Inside capacities of refrigerators made in the United States range from nine to 30 cu. ft. This extra cold. Not all refrigerators includes both the refrigerator and freezer. Freezer capacity sure to check.

County Agent's Notes

The threat of screw worms invading Mississippi is greater this year than any time since the eradication program began in 1962.

John W. Smith, County Agent at Bay St. Louis, said that cases have been reported in areas near Arkansas and Louisiana during April and May which is a threat to Mississippi. "Populations of the deadly livestock pest are at critically high levels over widespread areas of Texas. Sterile fly production has been stepped up to capacity levels, but this is not enough to stop the spread. Breaking past the sterile fly barrier almost daily, screwworms could easily get back into Mississippi although the state has been free of the pest since 1961."

Extension specialists and animal health officials are particularly concerned about the lack of worm samples being sent in by livestock owners in Mississippi. They reported that no samples have been sent in at all, whereas hundreds are needed for officials to be able to determine where the pest is located.

"With much of Texas infested with screw worms and regular livestock movements coming to and through Mississippi, county livestock producers should carefully inspect all livestock received from Texas and other infested areas," warned Smith.

The plan laid out by the animal health officials for protecting Mississippi livestock from screw worms is as follows:

(1) Release of sterile flies alone will not stop the large numbers of screw worms moving north and east from Texas. Livestockmen just carry out all approved preventive practices in order to contain and eliminate screw worms.

(2) Livestockmen must protect their animals by starting a long abandoned practice—inspecting livestock regularly and carefully. All wounds—particularly navels of new-born calves—must be found and treated promptly, whether they are wormy or not. Castration, dehorning, shearing and docking provide additional wounds on which screwworms can lay their eggs.

(3) All animals being shipped should be moved as a preventive measure. Spraying animals with approved treatment keeps screw worms from maturing and assures that the owner is not shipping infested livestock out of the state. Regular preventive treatment will help delay the natural spread of screwworms and protect the health of the animals.

(4) Livestock owners are warned to be cautious about livestock shipments coming from infested areas. Any shipment of cattle from in or near the infested areas may be carrying screwworms, each animal must be thoroughly checked over for wormy wounds. A cow's vagina, bull's sheath or calf's navel could be harboring screwworms that will start a large infestation in a new area.

(5) It is illegal to move infested livestock across state lines. If a screwworm infestation results from transporting infested animals out of the infested area, it may be necessary to quarantine and regulate livestock movements. Inspection stations may have to be set up along state borders to check all shipments.

(6) Samples of worms from wounded animals that are identified as screwworms will receive special drops of sterile flies to further protect their animals. Self-addressed kits can be obtained from any Extension agent or livestock inspector.

Tips To Veterans And Dependents

PREPARED BY CHESTER CURVEY HANCOCK COUNTY VETERANS SERVICE OFFICER

1. Retired personnel with V.A. adjudicated service connected disabilities who require hospitalization for service connected disabilities are given priority (along with all other service connected disabled Veterans) in admittance to V.A. Hospitals.
2. Certain retired Veterans (Korean conflict disabled Veterans and persons requiring medical care who were retired with a medical disability) now qualify for medical treatment from the V.A. Previously retired Veterans had to waive a portion of their retired pay and take a V.A. disability in lieu. This provision has been discontinued, except for those retired with disabilities incurred during a peacetime period only.
3. Retired members of the armed services are entitled to V.A. Hospitalization and Domiciliary care under the same conditions as other veterans with these eligibility requirements:
 - a. must have wartime service or,
 - b. must be drawing compensation for disease or injury incurred in peace time or,
 - c. must be retired for a disability.
4. Retired members with a wife, child, or dependent parent retains full retired pay while receiving V.A. Hospital treatment or Domiciliary Care regardless of how long treatment lasts. A retired member without dependents receives full retirement pay for six months and then is reduced to $30.00 per month or 50 percent of his retired pay whichever is greater. When discharged from the hospital or domiciliary the full amount withheld is paid to him in a lump sum and retirement benefits will be continued. In the event of death at the Hospital or Home the amount withheld will be paid to his heirs.
5. Retired members without wartime service, and who were not retired for a disability and who are not receiving or entitled to receive disability compensation are not eligible for Veterans Administration, Medical, Dental or Hospital Care.
6. Veterans with peacetime service only, must have been discharged for a disability incurred in line of duty or be receiving compensation for a service connected or a service aggravated disability to receive V.A. Hospitalization of Domiciliary Care.
8. For V.A. Domiciliary care any Veteran must be ambulatory, be able to tend to his personal needs, dress himself, make his own bed, clean his own area and attend a general mess hall.

Save Money This Summer

With summer's hot, humid weather on the way, homeowners in this area would do well to keep in mind these tips recommended by Mississippi Power Company on the efficient use of electric appliances.

Set the air conditioning thermostat at 78 degrees, a comfortable summer temperature for most people. For each degree below that, the unit will use about 10 percent more electricity.

Clean or replace air conditioning filters frequently. Check to see that the house is insulated properly. The recommended thickness for insulation is six inches in the ceiling and four inches in the wall.

The attic should be properly ventilated, even with a well-insulated ceiling.

Awnings and shutters outside the house and closed draperies or blinds inside will help shut out the heat.

If you build or re-roof, remember a light-colored roof reflects heat.

Shade trees and shrubbery also keep out heat, but make sure they don't block the cooling unit's air flow.

Windows and doors should be properly fitted and weather stripped. Ask members of the household to close doors properly so that cool air will not escape.

Remember checkups for the air conditioner will assure operating efficiency.

In the summer, home appliances often require more electricity because of more frequent use. Appliances can be used more efficiently by remembering these hints:

Replace worn gaskets on refrigerators. If you do not have a frost-free refrigerator or an automatic defrost model, defrost regularly and cut down on the number of times doors are opened.

Run only full loads in dishwashers and clothes washers. This saves water, time, and money. Read clothing labels and use the lowest water temperature that will give desired results.

Fill a clothes dryer, but don't overload. Use settings appropriate for various fabrics. Permanent press, for example, doesn't need "hot" heat. Keep lint filter clean and be sure dryer is vented to the outside.

Miss Jinks Weds Olie Lewis Jr.

The home of Mrs. Edith Zellner, 1506 North Beach, Bay St. Louis, was the setting Saturday, June 10, for the marriage of Miss Katherine Louise Jinks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill M. Jinks of Biloxi, Miss., and Olie Vernon Lewis Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. O.V. Lewis of Piquette, Miss. The Rev. Perry D. Neal, pastor

First Baptist Church, performed the wedding ceremony. A picture window flanked by tall candelabra and baskets of calla lilies served as the altar. Arrangements of red roses and white hydrangea with baskets of daisies were used throughout the house. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length white crepe sleeveless dress. Seed pearls decorated the high fashioned collar and a pearl tiara held in place the veil of illusion which fell to the bodice of the gown. She carried a cascade of white roses and daisies. Dr. Lewis served his son as best man. Following the ceremony a buffet was served in the sunroom to members of the immediate families.

BRIDGE WINNERS

Walters-Abbott Wed In Ceremony

First Baptist Church, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Sylvia Dianne Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben S. Abbott, Bay St. Louis, Miss., to Barry Scott Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard V. Walters Sr., of Piquette, Miss.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Perry D. Neal, pastor, Saturday June 10, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Charlotte Skinner, organist, and Miss Charl McIntyre, vocalist, presented a program of nuptial selections, including More and the Lord's Prayer.

Tall Gothic-arched candelabra banked with greenery decorated the church. White pedestals holding baskets of white gladioli and pom poms were accented against a background of jade palms. White satin bows marked the family pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of chiffon over bridal satin. Re-embroidered Alencon lace applied on white satin highlighted the bodice of the empire style gown, which featured a Peter Pan collar and long chiffon flared sleeves gathered at the wrist to a cuff fastened by tiny satin covered buttons.

Her floor length veil of bridal illusion trimmed with Alencon lace appliques, was held in place by a Camelot cap heavily beaded with seed pearls and iridescents. She carried a cascade of white gladioli.

Miss Cheryl Abbott was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jan West of Bay St. Louis, and Mrs. C.B. Jolley of East St. Louis, Illinois.

Carol Denise Abbott, sister of the bride, was the flower girl and Barry Richard Abbott, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer.

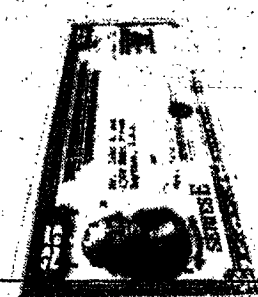

The maids wore floor length dresses of lilac lace over satin fashioned on Empire lines with wide brim hats trimmed with lilac bows, they carried a long stem white gladioli. The flower girl wore a similar dress and carried a basket of multicolored flower petals.

Best man was Tony Compretta of Bay St. Louis. Howard V. Walters Jr., Piquette, and Bobby Sanford, Bay St. Louis, were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Church Fellowship Hall.

The commission finally agreed to allow the petitioners to withdraw the petition with only one dissenting vote by E.J. Marengo.

Although approximately 50 people attended the meeting, no testimony was taken before the commission made its choice.

Attorney Joseph Benvenuti told the gathering that he had a petition with 450 signatures but would not present it because of the withdrawal. "However, I will keep this petition on file in case this matter comes up again so the people will know that their efforts have not gone for naught," Benvenuti stated.

Later, Vegas explained that the withdrawal meant no further action could be taken unless the petition was again filed and the necessary legal steps were taken. "It is as if the petition was never presented," Vegas pointed out.

Tuesday night's meeting was held at Bay Junior High because of the large number of protesters who attended the special hearing in city hall on May 30. The original petition had requested that the zoning be changed from R-1 to R-3.

expanded to cover almost all types of properties, according to Willard Inman of Mississippi Research and Development Center, Mississippi's coordinating agency for the Department of Housing and Urban Development sponsored program.

BROTHER ALBERT LEDET, S.C., swimming instructor at St. Stanislaus High School, will attend a one-week Safety and Leadership Academy Program to be held in Mobile, Alabama. The program sponsored by the Gulf States Division of the American Red Cross will be held at Brookley Field in Mobile. At the end of the program Brother Albert will be a first aid instructor.

The expanded program now insures all apartment buildings, business structures, agricultural, religious and nonprofit buildings and those owned by State or local government agencies. Before March, 1972, Federal flood insurance was available only to one-to-four family residences and small businesses.

In Mississippi 74 communities have been designated as potential flood areas by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Currently several of the communities on the Gulf Coast are qualified for the federal program.

Inman said "Communities should seriously consider this program. It's designed to help the individual homeowner protect himself from flood disasters with affordable insurance that in the past was out-of-reach financially."

The insurance is available at reasonable rates from private insurance agents to residents of qualifying communities. In order to qualify for the federally subsidized insurance, communities must adopt certain land use and flood control measures.

RECENTLY MARRIED were Mr. Joseph Rudolph and Mrs. Ada Lehto. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Carver. The Rudolphs now reside in Shoreline Park. A reception was held after the wedding attended by a number of their friends.

California Table Grapes Are Back

Crisp fresh table grapes from sunny California vineyards are back earlier than ever this year. Because of a warm mild winter, Fenettes will be in our markets by mid-May followed closely by Thompson seedless, the number one grape in the nation.

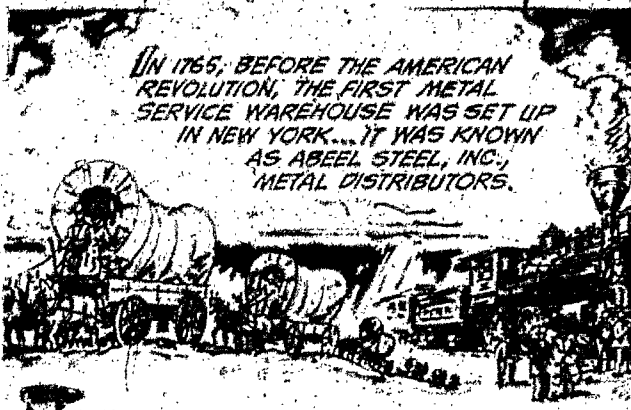

The original "snack food", grapes have been eaten out of hand for centuries. Convenient for taking along on any outdoor event, fresh grapes also add glamor and a sprightly flavor fillip to "indoor" dishes.

When chicken's on the menu, why not try this exotic twist on the usual Veronique theme. Pale green grapes stud a curry-flavored sauce that's made in minutes and spooned over cooked chicken breasts.

Fresh grapes "set" the table as well and invite sampling, for who can resist the temptation of a bunch of cool green grapes!

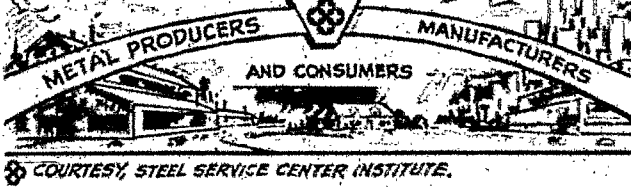

CURRIED BREAST OF CHICKEN VERONIQUE

6 chicken breast halves
Salt and paprika
Flour
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup flour
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed chicken broth
1 cup light cream
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 1/2 cups seedless green grapes (Fenettes or Thompsons)
Wash chicken and pat dry. Sprinkle chicken on both sides with salt and paprika. Dip into flour. Heat butter and brown chicken on all sides. Cook over low heat, turning occasionally until chicken is tender. Cover chicken while it is cooking. Remove chicken to a platter and keep warm. Add flour to pan drippings and stir to loosen all drippings. Gradually add chicken broth, light cream and curry powder. Cook over low heat, stirring, until sauce thickens. Add grapes and heat briefly. Spoon sauce over chicken breasts. Makes 6 servings.

IN 1765, BEFORE THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, THE FIRST METAL SERVICE WAREHOUSE WAS SET UP IN NEW YORK... IT WAS KNOWN AS ABEEEL STEEL, INC., METAL DISTRIBUTORS.

TODAY, 1600 METAL SERVICE CENTERS SERVE AS THE KEYSTONE IN THE BRIDGE OF OUR INDUSTRIALIZED ECONOMY. JUST AS DRIVING OF THE GOLDEN SPIKE AT PROMONTORY, UTAH, IN 1869, LINKED THE EAST AND WEST COASTS OF OUR NATION IN A SINGLE COMMUNICATIVE ENTITY, WITH RAILS OF STEEL, SO SERVICE CENTERS PROVIDE OUR NATION WITH A STRONG MARKETING ARM FOR METAL SUPPLIES, BENEFICIAL TO ALL...

LET'S STOP pampering the perpetrators of violence

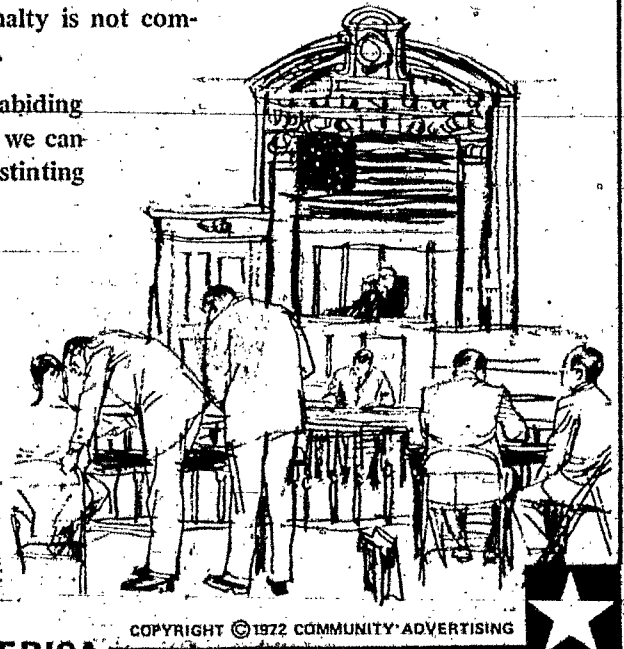

Crimes of violence have spread until they blanket the country. There is no refuge to which the citizen can go for safety from criminal assaults and depredations.

The wave of lawlessness and violence is reaching dimensions that portend open rebellion against society and the rule of law. The law breaker — in all categories — including the habitual criminal enjoys greater immunities and protection than ever before.

Our crime rate increased by 148% in the past decade, while crimes solved by the police declined. Only about one out of 20 who commit major crimes is ultimately convicted and punished. Often the guilty escape punishment, and when convicted, the penalty is not commensurate with the gravity of their crime.

The debt and obligation that all law abiding citizens owe to our policemen is one that we can only partially pay by giving them our unstinting cooperation and good will.

We must stop coddling the criminals... the right of the citizens to BE SAFE transcends the right of the criminal to be free.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Missing Facts

Two witnesses swore that Harry was the man who had killed the supermarket clerk. A jury found him guilty of the crime. Not until after the verdict did Harry's lawyer find out that two other witnesses had told police Harry was definitely not the man.

Was this grounds for overturning the verdict? The prosecutor didn't think so.

"We are not obliged to do the other side's homework for them," he told the court. "If they failed to dig up this information on their own, that is just too bad."

But the court ruled that the verdict could not stand. The judge said the purpose of a trial is not merely to punish the guilty but also to free the innocent.

This is a general principle of law, reinforced by the Canons of Ethics of the American Bar Association. A prosecutor must not suppress evidence capable of establishing the innocence of the accused.

The principle applies not only to guilt itself but also to the degree of guilt. Consider this case:

A man was charged with murder. During the trial, the prosecutor withheld testimony that the defendant had been drunk at the time of the slaying.

Admittedly, this testimony could not have cleared the defendant. But at least it could have reduced the crime from first to second degree murder. Reversing the guilty verdict, a higher court said the trial was incomplete without the missing fact of intoxication.

Still, the prosecutor does not have to bring out everything he knows. In an arson trial, the prosecutor kept quiet about a chemical test that had been performed by the FBI.

Challenged later on this omission, he pointed out that the FBI test merely confirmed other tests already known and available to the defense.

Result: the verdict was upheld. The court said the missing information simply was not important enough to make any great difference.

Drag Strips

To hot rodders, the opening of a new drag strip is a cause for jubilation. But to residents of the neighborhood, the occasion may be less joyful. Do they have legal grounds for complaint?

Unless banned by local statute, a drag strip (or other kind of race track) is a perfectly lawful activity. It may become unlawful, however, because of the way it is run. That is, it may amount to a "nuisance" — subject to abatement by court action.

The noise alone may be offensive enough to justify a stop order. Take this case:

Residents living near a suburban drag strip found the noise so unbearable that they had to keep their windows shut. Residents one mile away had to keep their television turned on high. Residents three miles away said the noise ("like a chain saw") could be heard plainly.

Impressed by these tales of woe, a court ordered the track closed down.

Even if the noise itself isn't too bad, other factors may tilt the scales against the track operators.

In one case, in issuing an injunction, the court stressed the smell of burning fuel. In another case, the court called attention to the glare of lights, powerful enough to keep the neighbors awake at night. Said the indignant judge:

"To dangle restful sleep before an exhausted mortal and never allow him to taste of its refreshing juices constitutes one of the most torturous experiences of mankind."

Still, if these assorted annoyances are kept within reasonable limits, the mere fact that the track brings some commotion into the neighborhood may be overlooked.

Thus: The main objections to a new midsize race track were 1) that traffic in the neighborhood had increased, and 2) that parking spaces had become harder to find. But this time the court denied an injunction, saying that traffic and parking were problems for the city, not for the operators of the track.

The judge said the right to use the public streets belongs to all members of the public — including racing fans.

THE SCOOP ON ICE CREAM

In the making and eating of ice cream, milk sherbet and sherbet, there are several small but interesting bits of information and helpful tricks. Here are some hints by Carolyn Anderson, author of "The Complete Book of Homemade Ice Cream, Milk Sherbet and Sherbet," just published by Saturday Review Press.

1. A fork is the best tool for digging into ice cream that is too firm to scoop. A cake breaker is good for slicing firm ice cream.
2. If no cooking is required, often the ingredients can be combined right in the freezer can, which means fewer dishes to wash.
3. If ice cream is to be hand-stirred during freezing, or if it is to be removed from one container to another, use a wooden spoon to prevent transfer of heat from the hand to the mix.
4. Always allow space in the freezer can for expansion of the ice cream when it freezes. Approximately one third of the can is needed for the swell.
5. Cool the mix to room temperature or slightly lower before freezing. Churn-freezing a warm mix may cause a buttery texture due to an increased freezing period.

These and many other hints are included in Miss Anderson's book which also features chapters on the history of ice cream and sherbet, how to make homemade ice cream, milk sherbet and sherbet, and ice cream dieting and nutritive value, as well as hundreds of recipes. When it comes to helpful advice on how to make the best ice cream, Miss Anderson really dishes it out. And, if the popularity of this treat is any indication, millions of Americans will happily be taking it.

Round the Kiln

By Claire Mitchell

A very special "Thank You" goes to our many friends, neighbors and members of the Kiln Volunteer Fire Department who came to our aid when our house caught fire last week. I was in the hospital and Jerry drove up to see all of this in action. Two of our children were in the house when the fire started, and they got out and went after help. Then all of you so generously responded to the tremendous job of cleaning.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Agnes Thomas who died last week.

A speedy recovery is sent to Mrs. Jeannie Haas who has been seriously ill but is now back home recuperating.

Sam Haas Jr. was a recent visitor in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Haas Sr. Sammy is stationed in Enid, Oklahoma and will be transferring to California.

Mrs. Patsy Woodcock and daughters Debbie, Donna and Deana recently spent their vacation with her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Koonan of Fenton.

Those members attending the regional Catholic Youth Organization meeting in Baton Rouge last week-end were Cindy and Sharon Mitchell, Kelly Lyons, Maydene Shlyou, Phyllis Ladner, Keith Hoda, Johnny Knight and Johnny Necaise. Father Pierre, Brother Kevin, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl "Buck" Ladner provided transportation and chaperones for the group.

WEDDING PLANNED
Margaret Ann Middleton Singleton, formerly of Bay St. Louis, Miss., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon G. Middleton of Gulfport and James Walter Ownby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Ownby of Knoxville, Tenn., will be married at 3 p.m. June 24 in First Baptist Church Gulfport.

A reception will follow in the church parlor. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

PROMOTE Judge Harry G. Walker TO Supreme Court

HARRY WALKER IS NOW CIRCUIT JUDGE FOR

VOTE ☒ WALKER, TUESDAY JUNE 27, 1972

(Submitted and paid for by Judge Harry G. Walker)

The Howard Patterson Movement (and what it means)

In April, when he announced his candidacy, he was a virtual unknown. He started slowly, broke all the rules, ignored political veterans, avoided the old ways.

And no one gave him a chance: a political unknown just couldn't win in a field of political well-knowns.

But Howard Patterson believed otherwise, and persisted.

Let his opponents shout; he would explain.

Let them lecture to voters; he would listen to voters.

Let them promise the world; he would promise the truth.

Let them berate with anger; he would convince with reason.

Howard Patterson has captured the imagination of thousands of voters because he is utterly believable, and his commitment obviously genuine.

The Howard Patterson Movement grows stronger every day. What does it mean? Simply this:

For the first time in a long time a man who has campaigned with dignity can win our seat in Congress.

And that's something to cheer about.

State Office Working On Manpower Shortage

Governor Waller's Office of Education and Training has lent its assistance in finding solutions for a manpower shortage in the state's shipbuilding industry at Pascagoula.

"Despite the best efforts of all concerned," said Dr. Milton Baxter, Executive Director of the office, "manpower supply is not keeping up with Litton Industries' demands."

"The meeting lasted three hours," said Dr. Baxter, "and there was a frank evaluation of the many factors involved in the problem. There were no goats and no heroes. Everybody wants to help."

He said the meeting was called at Governor Waller's request, and he described the meeting as "the first session at which all entities concerned have met together to pool efforts toward solutions."

Specific problems, he said, include some housing shortages, traffic bottlenecks and other factors causing large personnel turnover at Litton at a time when Litton is trying to build its work force.

"If the manpower isn't there," he said, "some of the contracts may be cancelled, which would hurt Mississippians in the shipbuilding industry and which would be disastrous to the Navy."

He said manpower shortages are not confined to Pascagoula but are prevalent all along the Gulf Coast. He said junior colleges are unable to get enough students in training programs related to shipbuilding.

"At a time when industry is crying for welders and ship fitters," said Dr. Baxter, "youngsters who would like to have such jobs are being guided into liberal-arts courses in which they have no real interest at all."

"Now is the time for technical-type youngsters to get into vocational and technical programs in junior colleges," said Dr. Baxter. "They will be helping themselves, and they will be performing a valuable service to this state."

He said numerous agencies are at work to remedy any shortcomings which might be causing workers to be dissatisfied with living conditions in the Pascagoula area or with working conditions there.

"The highway department," he said, "is working on plans to build new highway links which will move traffic faster for commuting workers, so that workers may be recruited from a larger geographical area than at present."

"The Mississippi Employment Service is blanketing the state with computerized data showing jobs available at the Pascagoula shipyards. Junior colleges are willing to adapt training programs to the needs of industry."

"Housing authorities are re-evaluating their priorities. The Mississippi Coast Transportation Authority has plans for commuter buses and trains. Pascagoula and coastal county governing bodies are doing all they can."

"This office will continue to coordinate all efforts toward meeting manpower needs at Litton so that these huge payrolls will not be taken away from Mississippi by competing shipbuilders in other states."

Pelicans Pay Brief Visit

by Adoree Shortle
Echo staff writer
Suddenly, about a month ago, five young pelicans appeared on the beach in Waveland like unexpected out of town guests.

Each morning for a few weeks they could be seen sitting on broken pier pilings at the end of Sears Ave., preening their feathers or leisurely flying low over the water, looking for a snack swimming below the surface.

The word spread rapidly around town. "The pelicans are back!" To those residents in their late 30's or older that was the best news to be heard in a long time. To the under-20-year-olds in the community, it was a matter of little concern.

Why? Because the pelican, the Mississippi state bird, has been extinct for the past 23 years. None has been seen in coastal waters since about two years after the terrible '47 hurricane.

You can't appreciate what you've never seen and youngsters on the coast, particularly in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland communities have never experienced the pleasure of lying for hours on the beach or a pier, pelican watching.

The realization of this environmental deprivation was depressing, particularly after the following conversation with a local youth, born in the Bay and who has spent his life on the coast waters:

"The pelicans are back, I just came from watching them on the beach!"

"Polite disinterest."
"Oh yeah? ... What's a pelican?"

"It's your state bird, and it's just beautiful in flight, and they used to be all over the beaches and flying just off shore, and if you stayed very still on a pier they would come and sit right on the railing close to you, and they're so funny when they make a landing in the water, they kind of crash down and water sprays 'way up and ..."

I was babbling and he wasn't understanding.
"How old are you?"
"Sixteen - almost."

Very small voice, "You've never seen a pelican?"
"No. But I'll go down to Waveland and look at one."

The sight of the young birds brought back a flood of the best kind of memories, from a time before Camille, before the BIG war, even before there was a there was a beach in Waveland or most of the Bay.

Like the lyrics of Summertime, "when the living was easy" and all a young person had to do was float lazily in the warm salt water or lie by the hour on a pier and watch seagulls and pelicans by the score. There were lots of porpoises then, too, swimming in schools just a few yards off shore. I guess my young friend had never seen a porpoise either. They've disappeared, too.

I went back to the beach the next day and the young birds were still there. So were a lot of other people, in cars and on foot, all sort of rejoicing about the pelicans being back.

The consensus among those who knew was that these young birds must have come from islands in the Sound, maybe 40 or 50 miles out where the state of Louisiana has been trying valiantly to breed the rapidly disappearing species.

A few days later, I saw the young boy again and he said he'd gone to see the pelicans but they weren't there. Was there, perhaps, a special time when they came in to shore? With a feeling of foreboding, I went back and he was right. They weren't there. I went back day after day for a week just as suddenly as they came they had gone.

The pelicans haven't been seen since.

High winds and high tides have prevailed for the past week and they are still continuing. East and Southeast winds have kept the tides above normal, making fishing, soft crabbing, crabbing and floundering on the waning side. Not too many fish were caught over the weekend in either outside or inside waters. Trips out to the marshes on account of rough water were cancelled and fresh water fishing was hampered by abnormal high tides. The high tides continued practically all night making soft crabbing and floundering impossible.

A few hard crabs are being caught but they are scarce at the present time. Hard to catch even a few for gumbo. Frogging is on the down grade. Too much water everywhere. Frogs are caught best when there is very little water in the woods. They seek and stay around water holes and ditches. So do snakes. Be on the safe side. Watch out for them when frogging.

Fishing up Jourdan River and Bayou LaCroix is good right now but croakers and flounders are mostly being caught.

It is time again to purchase a new fishing license. Last year's license expires on June 30th in both Mississippi and Louisiana. Clark M. Hoffpauer, urges all out-of-state sports fishermen to purchase and have in their possession at all times a valid Louisiana sport fishing license. He said commission agents during the past few weeks have issued an exceptional number of citations for fishing license violation, adding that the offenses have occurred mainly throughout the southern portion of the state. There are a number of our local sports fishermen who fish over in Louisiana where fresh water fishing is excellent most of the time, especially bass and perch.

Clarifying a controversial point, Hoffpauer said that even offshore fishermen are required to have sports licenses. "If they bring their catches back into Louisiana, the law maintains that they possess a valid license. The safest way to fish is to have a fishing license. Then you can fish anywhere in Louisiana without worry of violation." Louisiana non-resident licenses are $6.00 per year and are valid from July 1st to June 30th next year. Louisiana licenses are now on sale and can be purchased from the Pearl River, Marina at Pearl River, Miss. The 1972-73 licenses went on sale June 1st. Sports fishermen having either a valid Miss. or La. license can fish on the banks on both sides of Pearl River.

Clark M. Hoffpauer, director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, announced that the passes of Lake Pontchartrain in the vicinity of the Rigolets and Chef Menteur, formerly closed to shrimping, opened at 12:01 A.M. Thursday, June 15, for shrimping with butterfly nets only.

The number of summer guests and residents to the Bay-Waveland area is increasing each week. Soft crabbing parties, floundering, beach and swimming parties will be the order of activities from now on. The kids are out of school.

Frank A. Miller was here from the big city over the weekend as the guest of Harlan Watkins. Frank is retired and strictly fishes and crabs.

Ray Esteves does electric and refrigeration work and fishing is his hobby when he has time to spare. Enjoys doing any kind.

SPORTSMAN OF WEEK—Recognize this fellow? He is Carl Balderhofer who has been a resident for a long time. Carl has fished all his life and still does when not tending bar at Trapanis Knock Knock. He is a good sport.

V. Lee from Leetown and his buddies do mostly salt water fishing. They spent the weekend camping and fishing down by Pole Cat Bend. They were after speckles and what have you. Any old fishing is good he claimed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoffman and children Joan, Ray, Jr., Virginia, Barbara, and Debbie, Warren Breaux, Richard Kehm and Linda Buchert spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Dec Elliott. They tried a little soft crabbing, hard crabbing, and fishing. Couldn't brag about what they caught, but enjoyed going after them. Going to try again, they said.

The water in Pearl River and its tributaries has cleared up beautifully. All that is needed to catch bass and perch anywhere is the right tide.

Al Boudry has a week's vacation. He and the family will spend it at the Bay with the Dec Elliotts. They all love to do all kinds of fishing activities. There will be no time lost.

Form will tell, Jack Nicklaus has done it again. He won the Open Golf Title last week. Must be a grand and glorious feeling to play golf and get paid for it. It costs the average guy a lot to just play golf. I have played for 56 years and am still a doffer.

Was a pleasure having a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Charley Harley, Mrs. Stephen Williams, Mrs. R.L. Andrews, Lisa Andrews and Stacy Andrews, all of Marietta, Ga. Charley was a fishing buddy of about 40 years ago. We were next door neighbors in those days.

Ben A. Mutter, Jr. is spending a week's vacation at home. Ben will be fishing, crabbing, frogging, etc. All

CRAFTY IDEAS

DYEING FOR A GREETING?

Want to make inexpensive and original greeting cards for the next holiday? Try a trick with tie-dyed fabric and cut-out paper.

Begin with a washable fabric—an old sheet, burrag or muslin, for instance. You can easily tie-dye the fabric with various colors of powder or

The 5th Annual Chandelure-Ho Fishing Rodeo planned for June 16, 17, and 18, 1972 was cancelled and will be held this weekend, June 23, 24 and 25 according to Dr. Lawrence J. LeBon. Lovely Lisa LeBon will reign as queen. "Gad about Gaddis" will be the special guest.

Just a reminder. The shrimping season is now open. When catching shrimps off the seawall down Cedar Point way remember not to be a litter bug. Take your trash home and dispose of it. Help keep our beach clean.

It is unlawful to shoot frogs. Just as easy to catch them with a hand grabber or by hand. Giggling is bad too. It is illegal to gig frogs in Louisiana.

Did you know that fish won't eat those big red and black grasshoppers. It is claimed that they taste like tobacco. Wouldn't know, never ate one!

Haven't heard much from Teddo Thomas, Henry Lang and other expert soft crabbers. They must not be getting any.

liquid Rit dye. Wash fabric and place damp fabric on flat surface with protective paper around work area. Gather or crumple fabric and tie securely in many places with tightly wrapped rubber bands. Mix 1/4 cup liquid or 1/2 package powder dye in a quart of hot water. Heat dye solution to simmering temperature and dye tied fabric, stirring occasionally, for about 15 minutes. Remove bands and rinse fabric thoroughly in cool, running water. Allow fabric to dry; iron.

Get envelopes and plain cards at your local stationery store or cut paper into appropriate sized greeting cards. For example, cut a card 9 1/4 inches long by 6 1/4 inches wide; fold in half lengthwise. On the front half of the greeting card trace and cut out an appropriate holiday shape—a heart, a Christmas tree, a four-leaf clover, for instance. Then cut out a piece of the tie-dyed fabric measuring about 4 x 6 inches. Paste this on the back half of the folded card so that the fabric shows through the cut-out shape. Print on an appropriate message.
